A Democratic Address.

An "Address to the People of the United States," signed by Barnum, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, and Gorman, Chairman of the Executive Committee, is printed in all the Democratic and Independent papers. It recites: "The result of the elections of Tuesday last in Ohio and West Virginia is before you. We may confidently expect a majority in Ohio for Cleveland and Hendricks in November and West Virginia by a splendid, decisive majority, declares its purpose to give us its electoral vote in November. The Blaine managers employed extraordinary methods in both States, expended not less than $500,000 in Ohio, and more than $100,000 in West Virginia in its political work; crowded these two States with Federal office-holders, employed the Postal Service, used the Commissioner of Pensions and a great number of his clerks as part of their political machinery. These abuses of political power have been committed under the overlooking eye of Blaine, with his full sanction, they armed United States Marshals and incited them to violence and outrage and expect to pay for the weapons and the services of these men out of the Treasury of the United States. They made Blaine one of their county and ward workers in Ohio and West Virginia, and he entered upon the work with zeal, compelling workmen to vote as their employers dictated. They kept him in daily association with the worst elements of their political organization, and made him their counselor in every disreputable plan which they devised to promote his success." After the further arraignment of Blaine and a reference to the Mulligan letters, the address says: "These are not words dictated by party rancor. They sum up the judgment of the independent press, which is the bulwark of good constitutional government, and they express the convictions of leading Republican journals. Blaine has grown rich; and men around him have grown rich; speculators whom he aided by framing laws to suit are rich. Corporations which he helped have monopolized the public lands. Trade is stagnant, the commerce of the country has decayed, mills are standing idle, women and children are beginning to want bread and the farmer can find no profitable market for his grain. This is the fault of these selfish men who use the powers which you give them for their own advantage, leaving you to fare as best you can." The address closes with a panegyric to Cleveland and Hendricks.

Satisfied With the Result in Ohio.

Chairman Jones of the Republican National Committee, when asked to give his candid opinion of the result in Ohio, said: "I say the result in Ohio is in the highest degree satisfactory. Three weeks ago we were assured that with energetic work there was a fair prospect of carrying the State by from 6,000 to 8,000. A later canvass enabled our friends there to give the expectation of a plurality of from 10,000 to 15,000. At no time have we claimed more. Of course, many who were less informed placed their estimates at higher figures, but that the committee is not responsible for. The Ohio election presages in a certain degree the sentiment of the people on national questions. In fact, in the vote upon State affairs, individual preferences and prejudices operated largely in every locality. It in no wise represented the real strength of the national ticket. For instance, in one town alone, where eighty Irish-Americans voted the Republican ticket, there are absolutely known to be 160 votes of that same class that will go to Blaine." Some percentage of the gain from the wage-earning and Irish-American elements alone in Ohio, as exemplified in the vote of the larger cities, will carry that State in November for Blaine and Logan by 40,000 majority. Furthermore, it will carry every Northern State, and upon a careful calculation, New York State by 50,000 majority.

FOR PRESIDENT.

JAS. G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

JOHN A. LOGAN.
OF ILLINOIS.

SENATOR JONES AT WINNEMUCCA.

He is Enthusiastically Received by the Citizens—He Receives a Rousing Reception and Delivers an Interesting Speech.

[Silver Stats 18th.]

Yesterday afternoon Hon. J. P. Jones arrived from the West. A large crowd assembled at the Depot to meet him, and the brass band of the Nellie Boyd Company, which was engaged for the occasion, furnished excellent music. The Senator, preceded by the band, and followed by a large crowd of citizens, was taken to the residence of Alex. Wise, where he remains during his stay here, and where he was called upon by a large number of citizens of every political opinion. He goes hence to Austin this afternoon, and will speak in that city to-morrow night.

Last evening the streets were lighted with bonfires, the band played lively airs, anvils awakened the echoes, and a very large crowd assembled at Centennial Hall, where the Hon. J. P. Jones was announced to speak. About 8 o'clock the hall was filled to its utmost capacity, many ladies being present. C. S. Osborn, Chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, called the meeting to order, and invited W. H. Minor to preside. He also named as Vice Presidents, H. C. Davis, who he expected to cast one of the electoral votes of Nevada for Mr. Blaine, Alex. Wise, T. J. Hadley, G. F. Turrill, Major Littlefield, of Utah, Captain Palmer, of Carlin, Judge Bigelow, of Elko, Professor King, John Borland and H. J. Pratt. Mr. Minor made a brief address, and introduced the champion of silver, Senator Jones, who was received with applause, while the band struck up a lively air. The Senator thanked the audience, and wished he might find language adequate to express his gratitude for the reception given him.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

Senator Jones said he came rather to talk than to make a speech, to deal directly with interests which concern the people financially. When honored with the great trust, which he now came to lay down or accept again, as the people shall choose, he discovered that silver was demonetized. He found that by the Coinage Act of 1873, a bill which slipped through Congress without those who voted for it knowing what it was designed for, as a very little gold or silver was then in circulation East, our leading industry was paralyzed. It was a mischievous measure, and if it was a conspiracy on the part of the Republicans to pass it, the Democrats did not object. He found hard times had struck the country when he went to Washington; the Treasury Department was contracting the currency, and the red flag of the Sheriff hung over half the land. During this panic he took up the silver question, but could get no hearing until 1876. He made a speech which it took him days to deliver; not that he believed in long speeches, but because he wanted to cover the whole ground, and go to the root of the matter. He succeeded in getting Thurman and others enlisted in the cause, and a commission was finally appointed. He explained his connection with the question until the passage of the Silver bill; and although that bill did not accomplish as much for the great industry of the State as he desired, it was the best the friends of silver could do at that time, as the East would not consent to the free coinage clause, and as it was it had to be passed over the President's veto. The execution of the law is scant, in consequence of a hostile Secretary of the Treasury, and he believed if the coinage of $3,500,000 a month was kept up by the mints, silver bullion would rise to par. The silver question is a sectional one, the East, or creditor class, being against it, and the West, or debtor class, in favor of it.

The Senator apologized for Mr. Blaine's opposition to the Silver bill by saying that he did not understand it, and consequently wanted 17½ grains more silver put into the dollar; but he predicted that if Blaine is inaugurated, he can persuade him, within three months to appoint a Secretary of the Treasury who is friendly to silver, and who will enforce the law more liberally than at present, so that silver will go to par, and the mines of Humboldt and other parts of Nevada, now lying idle, will be opened. As Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, he quietly strangled fifty or more bills that were hostile to the silver interest, and in this way indirectly benefited the great industry of the State, and if he stays in Washington until the 4th of March, he will see that nothing happens to it, and if chosen again to remain there longer, he will see that our leading industry is protected.

RESTRICTION OF CHINESE.

The Senator explained from his standpoint the positions of the two great political parties on the Chinese question. He admitted that Eastern Republicans were opposed to restricting Chinese immigration, but the sentiment against Chinese was growing steadily in that section. In the East they opposed restriction, because it had become more than a principle, and amounted to an emotional sentiment, that this is the "home of the free; the land of the oppressed of every clime." Chinese immigration had continued for twelve years before the people of this coast objected to it, and it required time to educate the people of the East up to our way of thinking. The Democrats in the South had had 200 years experience with an inferior race, and were ready to oppose Chinese immigration. He predicted that there never will be equality between people of different races—one will dominate. He was in Chicago at the last National Convention, and helped draw the plank opposing Chinese immigration. Mr. Hoar objected, but he insisted that nine-tenths of the people of this coast are opposed to Chinese.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The Senator took strong grounds in favor of a high tariff. He argued that agricultural communities never attain a high rank intellectually, and are less prosperous financially than manufacturing communities. He would build the wall of protection so high that it would exclude the importation of all articles manufactured by the pauper labor of Europe. He said the tariff led to inventions which lightened the labors of the people, and he thought the time would come when no person would have to work more than a few hours a day to support himself and family comfortably. In agricultural districts there are no inventors, comparatively speaking, while in manufacturing districts the average is one in 700 of the population. Before a tariff was placed on wool, it was nearly all imported; now, four-fifths of what is used in the United States is produced at home, and the one-fifth that is imported is of the poorest quality, used for carpets, and such an inferior article that civilized people would not attempt to produce it.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

The Senator alluded to the famous McSweeney case, and said Mr. Blaine and our Government was not to blame for his imprisonment. He also read some letters from Mr. Blaine regarding the persecution of Jews in Russia, also relating to the Panama Canal and other subjects of international note. He claimed that whatever party is in power the Government should protect its citizens, and he did not charge the Democratic party with being less patriotic in this respect than the Republican party.

He paid a tribute to the bravery of the South, and he did not believe that 12,000,000 people ever intentionally did wrong, but the South made a mistake.

Mr. A. Kleinbans asked the Senator how it is that Butler pictured the country as being anything but prosperous, with men out of employment, etc., not withstanding the tariff, while Blaine saw it through glasses of another color. The Senator answered that the waves of the ocean rise and fall, but did not change the general level of the water, and explained at some length the cause of the business depression East, and closed by thanking the people of Humboldt for favors always shown him.

During the two hours and over which he spoke he was listened to with marked attention, save when interrupted by applause. He is a forcible and logical speaker, and, like Cassidy, has the faculty—not very common among public speakers—of non offending any of his hearers. There is another similarity between our Senator and Representative in this campaign, and that is, each is stronger than his party, a fact which is apparent to all who heard both gentlemen speak. At the close of the speaking three cheers were proposed for Blaine and Logan, and given by the admirers of those gentlemen, after which the crowd dispersed.

A strong impression prevails that the Comstock is destined to become a mere milling proposition in the hands of a few men who have carefully concentrated enough of the stocks to retain the control of the more desirable mines.

The politicians are never content to rest. Already the Democratic pipe-layers are putting things in trim for the Presidential candidacy of Samuel J. Randall in 1888.

The infallible cough mixture prepared by Osburn & Shoemaker is fast taking the place of all other cough medicines—no cure no pay.

THE RACES.

The Fun at the Race Track Yesterday.

The attendance at the track yesterday was not large, yet it was all the management expected the first day. The weather was delightful, and every thing passed off smoothly and to the satisfaction of all, not excepting those who found the wrong horse.

First on the programme was a running race, half mile and repeat; purse $100. There were four entries. Conquest won the race in two straight heats. Time 1:51 1/2 and 1:52.

The second was a trotting race; one mile, 3 in 5; purse $125. Gearhart and Baldy were entered. Baldy was the victor; distancing his adversary.

The third was a 3/4 mile dash for a purse of $100; first horse $50, second $30, third $20. Snuff Box, Conquest and Land Slide were entered, and won in the order named.

TO-DAY'S FUN.

The first race on the programme to-day will be a special running race, 3/4 of a mile, for a purse of $100, between Conquest and Snuff Box.

The second will be a running race, one mile, 3 in 5, for a purse of $200. Entries—Lige Clark, Ballot Box, Conquest and Snuff Box.

The management have arranged to have a race between 20 Indian ponies next Thursday afternoon. They will create some fun if they do not make time.

Accident on the Rail.

The swing train which left Truckee Saturday evening met with a severe accident near Bruno. It appears that in some way the train became uncoupled near the center, and the rear cars on a down grade ran into the forward section with tremendous force before the train men were aware of what had happened. Conductor Willis, who was in charge of the train, was thrown through a window, but escaped with a slight cut on the wrist. Mrs. Garcia, wife of the engineer, with her two children, was in the caboose, and received such a shock by the concussion that she was rendered insensible for eight hours. The children escaped with a few scratches. Dr. Bergman, who was telegraphed for, last evening reported Mrs. Garcia and all the others injured doing well.

Italian Republicans.

Antone Luigi Piazza and Bartolo Berasi, two young and enthusiastic Italian Republicans, went out to Huffer's Sunday afternoon and addressed their fellow countrymen in that section on the political issues of the day, speaking in their native tongue. There were 24 present, and they listened to the young orators with great interest. The boys compared the records of the two parties, and urged their fellow citizens to stand by the Republican party, as the one certain to best protect foreign as well as native born citizens.

Tuscarora on Her Hind Legs.

A dispatch from Tuscarora, dated October 17th, says: Woodburn had the most enthusiastic meeting ever held in Elko county. Woodruff & Enner's hall was crowded. Mr. Woodburn spoke in his happiest vein, amidst the wildest applause. Bonfires were blazing, flags flying and anvils ringing. Tuscarora will give Billy Woodburn a big majority on November 4.

In the contest for the black thorne cane at the Catholic Fair yesterday evening Woodburn had 74 votes and Cassidy 41. The contest, however, will not be decided until Saturday night.

Our Chief Justice.

Judge Thos. P. Hawley, Republican

nominee for Justice of the Supreme Court, came down from Carson last night and will remain in Reno two or three days. He must be heard from at the meeting to-night. There is no better man in this State than Tom

Hawley. He has honored the Bench for the past twelve years, and should be kept there for the ensuing six. He is the people's man, and ought to have

as large a majority as he had six years ago, something like 2,000.

District Court.

Last Saturday Judge Boardman admitted six applicants to citizenship:

Charles Shaw, Denmark; Richard Lak-

ing, England; Jas. Sullivan, Peter

Murphy, Owen Murphy, Ireland, and Perge Giuseppe, Italy. Yesterday R.

A. Lamb and John Tighe were admitted to citizenship.

Daggett in Reno.

Hon. R. M. Daggett will address the people of Reno on the political situation this evening, October 21. He will make music for all good Republicans,

and will give the Democracy plenty of

"bad medicine."

The Catholic Fair.

The ladies in charge of the Catholic

Fair in Armory Hall were quite busy yesterday in getting things in shape.

The hall is sure to be one of the chief attractions of the town for the next five days.

Justice Court.

P. Prunty and J. S. Vernon were before Justice Young yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. The former was convicted and sent up for 10 days and the latter for 15 days.

The Republicans of Winnemucca held a large meeting last Thursday evening which was addressed by Senator Jones. It seems to be the opinion that the Republican Legislative ticket of Humboldt county will be elected—mainly upon the silver question.

Col. A. C. Ellis arrived from New York last night. The Democratic "sack" was not visible, but it is reported the money to carry Nevada for Cleveland is in checks.

Jones at Austin.

[Austin Reveille 18th.]

The train from Battle Mountain ran in ahead of time last night and got to Clifton at 9 o'clock. The motor and a flat car, carrying the band and a number of men with torches went down to meet Senator Jones. As that gentleman stepped from the train he was greeted with music, three cheers and a tiger. The crowd then boarded the train and were soon in Austin. The wind blew fiercely, but despite this inconvenience the reception though impromptu was quite a success. Upon his arrival the Senator went immediately to his rooms in the Molinelli House, because he was very weary, having spoken at Winnemucca the night before and not being able to retire until a late hour. He has been around to-day, however, visiting old acquaintances and making new ones. To-night he speaks at International Hall. He speaks at Eureka on the 20th—Monday night and thinks of going "overland," because the trains do not connect at Palisade. If he goes by rail he will have to charter a special train on the Eureka and Palisade road. He will decide upon his route to-day.

All Republicans will remember the car torchlight procession to-night and be on hand at 6:30 o'clock at Upper Austin. The cars will be lighted and the little cannon will add its peals to the occasion. All Republicans are requested to turn out and give Senator Jones a hearty reception on this his first visit to Austin in twelve years. After the procession the Senator will speak in International Hall on the political issues of the day.
